FROM NASHVILLE.

Great Damage in Tennessee by the Flood—Railroad Communication Disturbed—Loyalists.

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

NASHVILLE, May 21, 1865.

Damages on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad are extensive. The bridges over Green and Barren Rivers are injured. A large portion of the embankment near Bacon Creek is carried away, and many small bridges between Bowling Green and Gallatin are washed off. There has been no train between Nashville and Louisville, and but few passengers have been allowed to pass through the lines. Nothing has been received from Louisville and Nashville Railroad officials, and it will be impossible to get reliable news by telegraph. A train will start from Louisville and Nashville Railroad to-morrow morning, and will be allowed to pass through the lines. Communication will be established with Louisville and Nashville Railroad officials as soon as possible. No one is permitted to go beyond the lines without a pass from Gen. Thomas.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad will be repaired as rapidly as possible. It will be completed to Bowling Green and Gallatin in about ten days. Bacon Creek and Bowling Green were the points where the flood occurred. It will be about three days before passengers will be allowed to go through to Louisville.

The Gallatin paragraph published in the TRIBUNE of the 20th inst., in reference to the probable arrival of Jeff. Davis in that city and his conveyance northward in the steamer Rinaldo, will be about two hundred thousand soldiers in line on both days.

The Rebel Governors.

There reached there about four days ago, Brown and Smith, and all of the Southern Governors who may be caught, he told me leaders of the rebellion and of the treason of high degree.

The Wintering Out.

The Memphis Bulletin says of the War Department has issued orders for the immediate mustering out of service of all the white troops of the Army of the Potomac whose terms of service expire previous to the 1st of September. Although the order is not intended to apply to troops whose days or two weeks will be required to go through the necessary routine.

The Capture of Davis.

The Herald's Fortress Monroe special gives the particulars of the capture of Jeff. Davis and party, which arrived on the steamer Clyde. All commissioned Gen. Pritchard, Capt. Coates, Lieut. Lamb, Lieut. Hanson and Private Munn, of the 4th Michigan Cavalry, with their escort in charge of Jeff. Davis, rifle and four children, Mrs. Howell, recently Postmaster General of the Confederacy; Mrs. Wm. F. Johnston and Mrs. R. Davis, Aids de Camp Burton and Harrison, Secretary Reagan, Postmaster Gen. Trenholm and some of the Davis family. Mrs. Davis, two children and servants left Savannah on the 10th inst., and Davis on the 11th, in wagons, and joined the party at Irwinville, Ga., on the 12th. Davis was dressed in a woman's waterproof and shawl, and wore his wife's overshoes. He was captured by Lieut. Lamb, who first discovered the party. Davis attempted to escape on foot, but was overtaken by Lamb, who ordered him to halt. Davis refused, when Lamb fired, killing one of the horses. Davis then halted, and was taken to the camp. Mrs. Davis and children were in a wagon, and were not disturbed. Davis had on his wife's clothes when captured. He was taken to Macon, Ga., and thence to Augusta, where he was confined in the old Confederate Capitol. He was then taken to Savannah, and thence to Hilton Head, where he was put on board the Clyde. Davis was captured by Lieut. Lamb, of the 4th Michigan Cavalry, and not by Gen. Pritchard, as reported. Lamb is a brave officer, and deserves the credit of the capture. Davis was taken to Fortress Monroe, and confined in the casemates of the fort. He was put in irons, and is closely guarded. Mrs. Davis and children are at Savannah, and will be sent to Washington. Davis is very much broken down, and acknowledges his temporal sovereignty.

The Times Dec. 1st Notes of Hostility, which appeared in morning when it published the news of Mr. Lincoln's murder, says: "Let the whole party subscription should be collected for the purpose of presenting to Mrs. Lincoln a gold pencil, bearing the following inscription: Liberty, equality, fraternity. To Lizzie Lincoln, from the people of the United States. French democracy greeted Lincoln, the representative of the republic without violating the statutes of liberty. He was assassinated on the 14th of April, the day of Caesar—A Confederate crime was reported at Manilla.

NEW YORK, May 21.

Manacle.

The Academy of Music was filled last night with the Masons and Grand Army of New York, welcoming Albert G. Mackey of Charleston. Prominent members of the Order were present from various Northern States. Mr. Mackey made a touching speech, and brief addresses were made by other gentlemen. The New York Lodges have sent a set of manacles, captured from the rebel President, to Mr. Mackey.

The Grand Review.

Preparations for the grand review on Tuesday and Wednesday next have been completed. All dressed colored platform has been erected in front of the White House, the President, Cabinet, and General Grant will witness the review from its windows. Half a million people will be present, and it is estimated that the North can afford to be represented by one hundred thousand soldiers. Two days will suffice for the review of the Army of the Potomac, which occupies the front line. The Sherman and Sheridan armies will occupy three days or two weeks will be required to go through the necessary routine.

Destructive Fire in Boston.

Boston, May 30.—The extensive establishment of Messrs. Jordan, Marsh & Co., on Washington street, was destroyed by fire this morning. The fire originated in the basement, and spread with great rapidity. The building was occupied by the firm as a wholesale and retail dry goods store, and was filled with a large stock of goods. The loss is estimated at $500,000, and is fully insured.

Destructive Fire in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, May 30.—A fire broke out in the extensive lumber yard of Messrs. Kilgour & Co., on Front street, this morning, and destroyed a large amount of lumber, together with the planing mill and other buildings. The loss is estimated at $100,000, and is partially insured.

Steamboat Explosion with Loss of Life.

Louisville, May 30.—The steamer Bird Lovell, for Memphis, blew up near Evansville. Joseph Swift, first clerk, and the first engineer, were killed outright, and four or five of the deck hands killed. No further particulars.

Chicago Tribune.

MONDAY, MAY 23, 1865.

A FEARFUL SCOURGE OF THE TRIBUNE.

We are now ready to announce the Success of the Tribune Sanitary Fair.

The Committee Rooms at the Chicago Opera House are open for the reception of articles from all quarters up to the time of the opening.

A convention HAVING BEEN HELD, giving rise to the unanimous resolutions of the Chicago Board of Trade, Stock Exchange, Cattle Traders, Grocery and Dry Goods Boards, appear in this issue. The Lists of contributions are enclosed, and the Committee of Arrangements will meet hereafter, and the Lists of Articles, will be received.

The Executive Committee is put to press in this issue of the paper, and will be found in session at all hours of the night, turned on by the electrical touch of the press the papers and friends will at once find the Committee Room at the Opera House, in charge of CHARLES WEB HUBBARD.—A well earned Republican reward has been bestowed upon Mr. Hubbard, who, before the Police Commissioners, charged with the murder of John Kyle.

Defendant was committed to jail over Wednesday evening, when he was taken out by a Civil Deputy. The affair occurred on Monday last, on Randolph street, near the head of the river. Kyle was a sailor, and Hubbard is a pugilist and a gambler.

ROAD TO RUIN.—A man known to the sporting fraternity of Chicago as Holmes Sawyer, and having no reputation outside the circle, exemplified the Public Ledger's definition of a gambler, by being an idler. It is almost time to worry Philadelphia with a definition of the words "idler," "loafer," "gambler," "blackleg," "rowdy," "bummer" and other synonyms for his own use. The Ledger is a good paper, but it is not always up to the appearance.

INTERESTING AND EXCITING ARTICLES.—Articles created, or made to order, are wanted, for use in lighting the horticultural department of the Northwestern Sanitary Fair. Parties who are willing to help the Fair by contributing such articles, will please send in their names to the Secretary of the Committee, Mr. Henry Greif (opposite the Tribune), and he will call for and receive the articles in good order.

LARCENY.—The conviction of the Lincoln murderers has drawn up their servile sentinel, Larceny, to the front. Larceny is the only one of the conspirators who has not been executed, and he is now engaged in the peculiar duty of

LINCOLN INSURANCE.—The condition of the Lincoln monument has drawn up their servile sentinel, Larceny, to the front. Larceny is the only one of the conspirators who has not been executed, and he is now engaged in the peculiar duty of

THE CITY.

NEW STOCK.—We call attention to the new notice from Hood & Cary's new music store. Its modesty deserves to Please "by-an-by."

SUNSTROKE.—A gentleman residing at the Richmond House, not connected with a large country establishment on River street, has been sunstruck, and is now under the care of the Police physicians. The particulars of his case will not be given out.

POSTPONED.—John Wellnut, charged with larceny by Stanley S. Fowler, was held to bail in the sum of $1,000 by Justice Morrison, at the Police Court. In default of furnishing bail he was committed.

RADDIN POSTAL CURRENCY.—Lewis Diddick was arrested and fined for the issue of various forms of postal currency issues, in the denomination of fifties, by the Justice of Printing. These issues were made by the defendant, who are easily known by having been on the fight.

FISHING OR JOLT.—An important meeting of the Fishing Club will be held in room No. 1 Tribune Block, Monday evening, at a quarter before eight o'clock. A full attendance of the members is solicited at the first meeting, and business of importance.

THE WEATHER.—The sixth number of the new Chicago Medical Journal, edited by Drs. Brainard and Ware, and published by Kearney & Mahony, is before us. It contains some very well written articles, and is a credit to the town from which the "Daily at the Home Rate," and sundries are issued.

DAN. HAMMAR, the finest humorist and representation, late of Dodsworth Hall, N. Y., advertises a series of his popular entertainments to be given at Bryan Hall, on Tuesday, Wednesday evening, May 24th. We predict for him a cordial greeting from the public in the shape of crowded houses.

GRAND ARMY OF SHOES ON DRY FOOTS.—A procession of the sentiment existed on Sunday morning of the Police Court. At 10 o'clock, Justice Morrison, Police Commissioner Hoyne, Chief Justice Rucker, Chief of Police Jamieson, Lieutenant Colonel Mann, Captain Hunt, Lieutenant Colonel Mann, Captain Hunt, Lieutenant Colonel Mann, Captain Hunt
